Handbook

Welcome to the Residential Campus Handbook

This handbook provides formal notification and detailed explanations of the University's codes, regulations, policies, procedures, and other relevant information. It is essential that you read it thoroughly, as it is your responsibility to understand its contents.

The handbook also answers frequently asked questions about the Residential Semester at BRAC University. It is designed to give you a comprehensive overview of the semester and help you prepare effectively before arriving on campus.

We strongly encourage both students and parents to review this handbook for a better understanding of the Residential Semester. Students are required to submit duly completed RS Forms I, II, and III.

Important Notes:

- Dormitory rooms will be allocated with either two (for females only) or four seats (available for both males and females).
- Students may choose their own roommates. However, all roommates for a specific room must be present at the time of submitting the health card and student/visitor profiles to participate in the room allocation lottery.
- Phone calls or applications will not be considered for roommate selection if someone is absent during the allocation process.

Policies for Residential Campus

Faculty Board for Student Academic Administration:

All of your leave requests, non-medical leave requests will be processed through this Board. All emergency leave documentation will require verification once you return to campus.

Three Undocumented Absences Policy:

Failure to provide documentation for three absences will mean you will be dropped from the course and or be unable to take examinations; reinstatement after being dropped at that point would only be possible with the permission of Dr. Samia Huq, the Dean of the School of General Education.

Use of mobile phones/devices:

Your use of mobile phones in the classroom is regulated by the guidelines of individual teachers. On and around campus, you may not take pictures or videos of anyone, including teachers and students, without their express permission. Penalties will include disciplinary action and other incoming sanctions that will be announced as the Semester progresses.

Official Residential Campus Facebook Group:

Starting very soon, an Official Residential Campus Facebook Group will be opened. This will be the place for campus-wide official announcements and postings, including all student posts and interface with fellow students and campus administration. This will only be open to current and active students of the Savar Residential Campus Semester. An announcement will be made in the coming days.

Student Behavior in the Dormitory Halls:

a. The University and the Residential Campus have a strict ZERO TOLERANCE policy towards usage of prohibited drugs of any kind and sexual harassment of any form or manner. A series of regulatory sanctions and penalties are incoming. These will be announced in the coming days.

- b. Do not engage in smoking in your rooms.
- c. Smoking is prohibited in the Dormitories.
- d. Do not engage in any behaviors that can be characterized as 'corruptive practices'; such as but not limited to; giving 'gifts' or 'gratuities' of any kind to receive favors in the class, dormitories or around campus under any circumstances.
- e. Do not seek favors in exchange for 'gifts' or 'gratuities' from anyone on campus or in the class, dormitory hall administrations, whatever their rank.
- f. Do not ask your parents or guardians to try and exert their influence to procure you preferential treatment of any form or manner in the class, dormitory halls or around campus, or to try and get you 'special visiting privileges'.
- g. Do not give into pressure from anyone 'requesting' gifts in exchange for preferential treatment; do not give into pressure from anyone, whatever their rank, who might attempt to threaten you, 'innocently' take your private property or demand that you or your family provide 'gratuities' or 'gifts' for the promise of preferential treatment.
- h. Reach out immediately without fear and anonymously to the office of the Campus Superintendent or the office of Assistant Dean, amongst other official university avenues open to you.
- i. Do not engage in bullying of any kind. Sometimes, what might seem like 'harmless teasing' may become a source of anxiety and verbal aggression to the recipient. If you are facing such a situation, try to talk to the person causing you the anxiety first; in most cases when people realize that they are causing discomfort with their words they will stop; however, if that does not happen then reach out to your Dormitory Supervisors or teachers; they will know how to take the next step. You may also reach out directly to the Office of the Campus Superintendent or of the Assistant Dean, amongst other official university avenues open to you.
- j. However, stay away from making malicious, false or frivolous accusations; if an investigation reaches such a conclusion, then you will face disciplinary action and or penalties yourself and no letter of apology or regret will be sufficient to shield you from your deceitful behavior. Always think before you act. Ask yourself the question 'what will the consequences of my action be?'

Student Behavior in the Classroom and with Teachers:

- a. Be respectful of your teachers.
- b. Do not speak ill of one teacher in front of another; this is a serious violation of academic etiquette and protocol; it may be grounds for disciplinary action against you.

- c. Do not convey or comment on the coursework or assignments of one teacher to another; this is another serious violation of academic protocol; it may be grounds for disciplinary action against you and the teacher to whom you conveyed such information.
- d. If you have an issue or concern that you feel you would like your Subject teacher to address; reach out to them respectfully, or if you are still reluctant, reach out to the office of the Assistant Dean and ask for advice.

"Situationally Appropriate" Clothing:

a. While you are adults, with the right of freely expressing yourself, remember that the Residential Campus is neither your home or a public place; this is a shared space provided to you by your university which is a private higher education institution.

b. Nevertheless, we are not going to dictate how you dress; what we expect you to do is to dress in situationally appropriate clothing.

What does this mean? For example; you just finished playing a game of basketball and you have a Verbal Examination in your Emergence of Bangladesh Course next; do not show up at your Verbal Examination in your sports clothing in which you just finished playing your game of basketball. Wearing your sports clothing to your Verbal Examination is situationally inappropriate.

When you are anywhere around campus, be mindful that there are students like you from all walks of life, socio-economic, cultural and religious backgrounds, therefore you have to exercise your judgement situationally as well as far as your attire is concerned.

Remember, empathy and respect for others are some of the core principles of the BRAC ideal; as BRAC University students you are bound to uphold those principles. And once again, remember you are not at home or in a public place; but a shared space provided by your university. Think before you act; if you are unsure; ask a member of the Faculty Contingent or your Dormitory Supervisors for advice on the options for situationally appropriate attire in any given instance.

Residential Campus

BRAC University's (BRACU) residential semester (RS) is unique among higher education experiences in Bangladesh. The RS offers a holistic curriculum based on the principle of 'experiential learning', which cultivates a broad range of soft skills and qualities, to compliment the theoretical development that students undergo. The Residential Semester takes place at a specially designed campus in Savar, which provides a support system that aids students in becoming confident and self-reliant. The Residential Semester emphasizes on the following areas

- ✧ Creating a strong sense of social responsibility and an awareness of each other's rights and responsibilities as members of society and citizens of a nation.
- ✧ Developing firm principles that guide students in all of their actions, whether in the personal, social, or public spheres, and teaching them to respect one another.
- ✧ Providing a holistic education, through critical academic learning, extracurricular and experiential activities.
- ✧ Improving communications skills
- ✧ Building empathy

Community and Hall Living

Residential semester provides environments that complement the teaching and learning mission of the University. Living in a community setting promotes the development of young adults and offers growth opportunities not offered in a single-family unit or apartment. To accomplish an atmosphere of cooperation, respect, and open communication, students are encouraged to:

- ✧ Show respect and appreciation for others
- ✧ Be an active member of their community
- ✧ Know, understand, and observe university policies
- ✧ Maintain and respect the physical environments of the campus

Sharing a room

The RS Life recognizes that for many students, moving on campus may be the first time a student shares living space with another person. For this reason, it is important for students to communicate with one another openly about how they will effectively share a room.

Below are a set of expectations regarding how you are expected to behave when living with a roommate:

- ✧ Set guidelines to determine what is expected of each other
- ✧ Communicate openly and honestly to create a comfortable environment
- ✧ Accept and celebrate diversity in differences, backgrounds, and choices
- ✧ Compromise and co-operate to ensure safe and positive living spaces
- ✧ Address issues face-to-face when they arise
- ✧ Respect privacy and personal belongings

Many roommate conflicts arise when students do not communicate about their needs to their roommate and instead voice concerns to others. Our initial response is not for these roommates to be separated, but rather to encourage the students to talk openly about concerns over their shared living space. It is important that all students and parents realize that concerns about sharing belongings and space, socialization, and student habits are commonly expressed "roommate conflicts." In most cases, these problems can be resolved through open communication. Learning to resolve difficulties through communication is an important part of the educational process, and all students will be expected to participate in this critical step before further measures (such as a room change) are taken. In most of the cases, students will be unable to move because no additional spaces are available.

Dining Services

Students will be served Breakfast, Lunch and Dinner in due time in the dining hall. In addition, they will be served snacks twice a day - once in the morning and once in the afternoon. We have a dedicated dining staff who will serve the students round the clock.

Furnishings

Your room is equipped with a basic complement of furniture. Room furnishings include a desk, desk chair, window coverings, single bed, and closet for each student. Furniture may not be moved from student rooms. Furniture placed in lounges and public areas is for the use of all students.

Housekeeping

The Room Service Attendants (RSA) in your dorm do a great deal to make it a more comfortable place to live. The clean appearance of hallways, rest rooms, and lounges are due to their efforts. RSAs are not expected to clean unnecessary mess made by students. Your cooperation in caring for the facilities will create a pleasant atmosphere. RSAs will make up your room and clean the floors on a daily basis.

Internet Access

Students will get free Wi-Fi in classrooms, Wi-Fi zones in their dormitory, computer lab, library and in the Anandapur. There will be no Wi-Fi available in the dormitory rooms.

There are Six Houses that contribute to a comprehensive experience of RS: Monpura, Kushiara, Dirai, Rowmari, Mithapukur and Sulla. The logos of the Six houses were masterfully crafted by our students. These locations play a significant role in the life of Sir Fazle Hasan Abed and BRAC. A description of the logos are given below

Located in the Bhola district, was significantly impacted by the 1970 Bhola cyclone. Relief efforts commenced in Monpura, marking the initial steps taken by Sir Fazle Hasan Abed prior to the establishment of BRAC.

An upazila located in the Rangpur Division. After Sulla was war-torn, the Kushiara River played a crucial role in transporting 600,000 bamboos from Assam. These bamboos were utilized to construct homes for the affected population in the area.

Dirai, located in the Sunamganj District, is another area where the highly successful Non-Formal Primary Education (NFPE) program commenced. The NFPE initiative features a one-room village school accommodating 30 students (21 girls and 9 boys) aimed at providing education to children from low-income households who do not have access to government primary schools.

An upazila in the Kurigram district of the Rangpur division. Relief efforts for the famine of 1974 commenced in this area. Sir Fazle Hasan Abed traveled to Rowmari by motorcycle, arriving at the docks of Bahadurabad, where he took a boat to Rowmari. At that time, a BRAC team was already collaborating with Oxfam on a child feeding program in the region.

Mithapukur is an upazila situated in the Rangpur District. It is one of the regions where the internationally recognized Targeting the Ultra Poor (TUP) program was launched. The TUP program offers limited financial assets, training, and coaching to assist the poorest women in initiating economic activities, establishing sustainable livelihoods, and fostering confidence and empowerment.

Sulla is an upazilla in the Sunamganj District. After being war-torn, the first phase of the Housing Programme was completed in Sulla. Having initially targeted to build 6,500 housing units to help the homeless, it was finally able to build 10,200 housing units.
